Video Case Study: NYC Elementary School

1. Do you agree with the teacher that the use of music in these PSAs was a transformative use? Why or why not?
2. Why do you think these students chose to use copyrighted works in their videos? Why didn't they use royalty-free music? Why do you think they chose a picture of a Cadillac instead of a generic car image with no logo?
3. Do you think the students should have given credit to the original creators of the images they used in their videos? The students used Google Images -- how would they find out who the original creator is?
4. Which of the five principles are relevant in this case? What evidence supports your answer?
